QUALITY

Great stress is laid upon the quality of

Invictus Shoes

Modelled upon nature shape lasts—made of the best materials obtainable—up to the minute in style—perfect in finish, these superior Shoes more than hold their own in the good opinion of good Canadians.

It has been said that the people of the Northern American Continent are the smartest and neatest shod in the world. This is no less true of Canada than of our neighbors "across the line."

The modern tendency is to demand fine footwear as a requisite. Judging by their popularity, "Invictus Shoes" would seem to be synonymous with "Superior Shoes", at least it is the endeavor of the manufacturers to attain this end.

Invictus Shoes are the practical man's "two foot rule."

Milk Producers Hold Meeting in Didsbury

According to arrangements the milk producers of this district met in the Opera House on Saturday afternoon to discuss the question of casting in their lot with the Alberta Dairymen's Association, for the producers are not satisfied with the present arrangements with the Calgary distributors, and for that purpose Mr. Carlyle was invited to the meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wm. Rupp, who stated that as Mr. Carlyle had not arrived, but was expected in a short time, he would call on Mr. Gillett for a few remarks.

Mr. Gillett directed his views on the political questions of the day and made a strong appeal for everyone to "play the game fair," and it was to the boys and girls we must look to in the future for better conditions. That could be done by instructing them along the lines of honesty and justice. The great trouble was that so few had played the game fair. We allow the politician to nominate whom they like, and warned his hearers to beware of office seekers. Concluding he appealed again to "play the game fair" and beware of hot-air, radical speeches.

Mr. Stauffer of Olds who followed, also made politics his theme and urged the members of the U.F.A. to bring their wives and daughters to their meetings so that they may understand those questions which they are vitally interested in and so be able to vote intelligently when the Dominion or Provincial elections take place. Discussing the tariff question, he drew comparisons between the price of binders in the United States and Canada, and claimed the Canadian article is considerably higher, the difference of which goes into the pockets of the millionaire.

A general discussion then took place on the telephone rates, notably the recent increase and the frontage tax. A resolution from the U.F.A. had been sent to headquarters demanding that the old rate of $18 be restored, but without results. It was pointed out that in some parts of the United States the rates are $12 and $15. A number of the phones in Olds have been taken out but it was emphasized that co-operation was necessary in order to bring pressure to bear on the Government. It was stated by one of the speakers that the provincial pole inspectors were paid 23c a pole, some of which work was done in a very loose way.

At this juncture Mr. Carlyle put in an appearance and the chairman called on him to address the meeting, but before doing so he would like to know what the grievances of the milk and cream producers were.

Mr. McNaughton stated the Didsbury producers had a real grievance because they were not consulted as to the price they should receive and were at the mercy of the distributors and claimed that the price should be $2.70 at Didsbury for their products. He referred to another matter, viz., that Didsbury and Olds are merely depots, which drove the price downward, and asked for an equalization; because a higher price was paid in Medicine Hat and Calgary than this district—a difference of 65c. Didsbury and Calgary must have interests at heart, and the committee of the Dairymen's Association were anxious to get in touch with the producers of Didsbury and be able to organize for this district. There is enough milk here to supply Calgary and so be able to get better price. Their interests were mutual and urged that they should work in unison.

As a distributor Mr. Carlyle went into details to explain his position as manager of the Crystal dairy in Calgary. One of the difficulties was the uncertainty of the supply; just now there was a surplus. He was anxious to work in harmony with the producers, but great caution had to be exercised in the milk business. Comparing prices he said Didsbury ranged higher than Olds. He was of the opinion that milk should be graded, which would make a difference in price; but he was not in a position to make a fixed price for the summer. He believed there was a good future for the condensed milk, so that Drumheller and other places might be supplied and advised Didsbury producers to keep on. Last winter business was run at a loss, and expected to make some changes in the plant to improve conditions, and said he was willing to do anything that would be for the general good, even to selling his plant. As one remedy to the present condition Mr. Carlyle suggested co-operation between producer and distributor.

Mr. Higginbotham, general secretary of the U.F.A., being present, was requested by the chairman to address the meeting. He told of the experience of the Fraser valley, B.C., farmers in regard to what they accomplished by organization. He practically covered the same ground as reported in another page of the Pioneer on this subject. That proves beyond doubt the great benefit that the Fraser valley milk producers derived through organization and Mr. Higginbotham strongly urged the producers of Didsbury to do likewise. After listening to Mr. Higginbotham's interesting talk, it was decided to provide a fund to send a delegation to Calgary to attend the next meeting of the Dairymen's Association. An assessment of $1 per can is to be made to provide funds to send a delegate to B.C. to investigate. The U.F.A. will also send Mr. Higginbotham as their representative, but his expenses will be defrayed out of the U.F.A. funds. The producers of Olds and Didsbury will be notified by circular as to date of meeting to be held.

The local trouble seems to arise from the fact that the No. 2 grade of milk is mixed with No. 1 by the creameries, whereas a distinctio-

Cats Thrive on Gas

Other Animals Seem to Be Badly Affected

There had been an extremely heavy gas attack, shell after shell had been sent across, and the whole area had been drenched. Six men who had taken their masks off too soon had succumbed, and yet, a few minutes later a cat was seen sunning itself, and performing a leisurely toilet on the roof of a dugout.

All other animals are badly affected by gas, but apparently the cat is immune. In the ramparts at Ypres the rats swarm in the dugouts, but hundreds may be killed without any difficulty, for many are blind, and nearly all are "dopey" from the effect of incessant gas attacks.

Gas seems to have taken the fur from the skins of many of them, and—probably because their nests are impregnated with gas—the new generations all appear to be afflicted. The wheezy cough of the gassed rat is a common sound in all dugouts.

Horses and mules suffer badly, and have their own gas masks. Dogs make tracks for fresh regions when gas is falling. But cats apparently stay there all the time. Of course, some find safety in gas-proof dugouts, but that does not account for all of them. Perhaps their nine lives come to their assistance.

NERVOUS AILMENTS

Few people realize that nervous ailments often arise from digestive troubles. The stomach fails, for some reason, to digest food properly. Then the system languishes and the nerves become exhausted in striving to continue their work. Impure blood also causes nerve troubles, but frequently it is in the stomach where the mischief starts. As the nourishment is carried to the nerves by the blood, it will be seen what an important connection exists between the stomach, the nerves and the blood, and how such troubles as nervous headaches, nervous dyspepsia and insomnia may begin.

In such cases relief is easily obtainable by means of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills replenish the blood with the food elements on which the nerves thrive; at the same time they exercise a tonic influence on the digestive organs, enabling the system to derive nourishment from the food taken. By this perfectly-natural process nervous ills are steadily dispelled by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you are suffering from nerves, or require a blood-making tonic, give these pills a fair trial, and see how speedily the best of health will be yours.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Newspaper reading helps one to understand human nature. In work and business it helps one to grasp the opportunities within his reach, to estimate the need of the people and learn how to supply them. A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which a sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper runs while the sleeper sleeps. Therefore, while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper the sleeper carries the sleeper over the sleeper under the sleeper until the sleeper which carries the sleeper, jumps the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper by striking the sleeper under the sleeper on the sleeper, and there is no longer any sleep for the sleeper sleeping in the sleeper on the sleeper.

Save All Good Oat Seed

Suitable oat seed will be very scarce next spring, and every farmer in Manitoba and elsewhere who has a bushel of it is advised against permitting it to be mixed with other grain and thus rendered unavailable for sowing. The Dominion government is now busy purchasing oat seed and it is realized that Manitoba, which has less good oat seed than usual, must not only supply its own requirements, but also provide a large surplus for Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Dominion government is paying a premium for suitable shipments. To learn how to obtain advantage of this, write to the Dominion government, seed purchasing commission, post office building, Regina.

Sure Death for Gophers

Writing in reference to an item in The Canadian Food Bulletin, relative to the campaign against gophers in Manitoba, a Vancouver correspondent says: "It might be good service if you made known the method of dealing with the gopher pest, as practised in California; this is by leading the fumes from an automobile or motor cycle into their burrows. A piece of garden hose is attached to the exhaust of the machine by one end while the other end is put into the hole. The motor is then allowed to run and the gases, which consist mostly of carbon monoxide, flow down into the burrow and poison the occupants. As the gas is heavier than air, it lodges in the dips and hollows and remains effective for a long period."

Poultry Business Increasing

Farmers Are Now Beginning to Dispose of Their Surplus Birds

A growing business in Western Canada is the handling of poultry. Farmers are now beginning to dispose of their surplus birds. Cold storage plants are all in readiness for this trade, and they ensure farmers the best possible preparation for the consignment of their produce to the large market centres of the East and the Pacific coast. The Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries are making arrangements to handle over one million pounds of chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese during the next few weeks, the surplus of fifty thousand farms in the province. An advance payment is made to the farmer upon receipt of the birds at the station, and final payment after they are marketed.

It Bids Pain Begone.—When neuralgia racks the nerves or lumbago cripples the back is the time to test the virtues of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Well rubbed in it will still the pain and produce a sensation of ease and rest. There is nothing like it as a liniment for its curative properties are great. A trial of it will establish faith in it.

Doubly Handicapped

There were some deficiencies in the early education of Mrs. Donahue but she never mentioned them or admitted their existence.

"Will you sign your name here?" requested the lawyer whom Mrs. Donahue had asked to draw up a deed transferring some possessions to her daughter.

"You sign it yourself, an' I'll make me mark," said the woman quickly. "Since me eyes gave out I'm not able to write a wurr."

"How do you spell it?" asked the lawyer.

"Spell it whatever way you please," said Mrs. Donahue, recklessly. "Since I lost me teeth, there's not a wurr in the wurrld I can spell!"—London Tit-Bits.

THE GREAT STRIKE

Calgary Labor Unions, by a vote of 18 to 6, with 20 still to vote, went out on a sympathetic strike with Winnipeg on Monday morning, and Edmonton is completely tied up. The whole trouble, according to the labor side, is the principle of the right to organize into unions, and to compel the employer to negotiate with the unions instead of the individual. This principle is all right, but what about the other principle, that of the thousands of people who have as great a right to demand that all co-operate or work together, who have no means of organizing to protect themselves, but will have to starve or suffer great hardships because a few thousand men through a sympathetic strike tie up the whole industry of the country to gain ends which could and have been secured by a legitimate strike; but the sympathetic strike has no place in democracy—it is the worst form of class rule and looks as though it is being engineered by the I.W.W. or the Bolsheviks for the purpose of disorganizing the better class of unionists, who are not entirely in sympathy with their ideals, as well as the ordered conduct of the country. If Winnipeg decides that a sympathetic strike is necessary for that city, all well and good; let them go to it. But to say that the whole of the West must be made to suffer because of their action, is as bad as any autocratic government, in a supposedly democratic country like Canada.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Province has received notice from the live stock branch at Ottawa that cattle were moved north on account of the scarcity of feed in the south will require to be loaded and shipped on or before the 16th day of June, in order to get the free rate, for return to the south.

Circular No. 17 of the Dominion Experimental Farms show that seed of most varieties of vegetables can be grown at home of as good or better quality than is the imported seed. To insure having good seed, however, it should be produced from the best plants of the crop, rather than from those which happen to be left unused. This publication, which is entitled "Every Gardener His Own Seed Grower," is obtainable from the publication branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, and tells how to grow, select and care for seeds of such crops as beans, corn, cucumbers, egg plants, lettuce, melons, parsley, peppers, peas, radish, tomatoes and some other crops.

National Movement for the Dominion

Have you heard of the new national movement? It's the "get-a-stake-in-Canada" movement, launched a few months ago, and which is spreading quickly from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is both a national and a natural effort, the wonder being that it was not started long ago.

This movement is really another name for the War Savings campaign, the purpose of which is to induce people to purchase Dominion "Baby Bonds," which cost $4 and a few cents. These, which are just as secure as Victory bonds, are the "stake," which constitute part ownership in Canada.

Before the outbreak of war there were probably not more than 30,000 such Canadian stakeholders, now there considerably over 1,000,000 and the number is growing rapidly.

HISTORY WILL DO JUSTICE TO PART
BRITAIN HAS PLAYED IN THE WAR

LORD CURZON DESCRIBES MAGNITUDE OF EFFORT

Great Britain is Justified in Asking That People Should Be Told
What Nation Has Done — Her Entrance Into the War
Saved the World and Civilization

The magnitude of Britain's world-wide war effort was described tersely and luminously by Lord Curzon in a speech at Gray's Inn Hall:

"We were fighting seven distinct campaigns ourselves—in France and Flanders, Italy, Saloniki, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Persia and Egypt. Thousands of our men had shed their blood for the defense and emancipation of other lands. We had proved ourselves to be the knights-errant of civilization. We had been the feeder, the clothier, the baker, the armorer and the universal provider of the allies, and without our aid the superb effort could not have been put forward by France. We carried over 50 per cent. of the coal by which the furnaces and forges, the railways, and arsenals of France were fed, and 60 per cent. of the cereals which kept her army and people, and we had one million tons of shipping in the service of France at that moment. We also had half a million tons of shipping in the service of Italy, and we had carried small arms, ammunition, machine guns, blankets, socks, wool, cotton and jute, the latter to clothe the soldiers of France and her people. We had sent France's entire supply of frozen meat and petrol to Saloniki.

"What we have done for France we have done for all the allies. Since the war we have carried twenty-four million tons of stores for the allies, and the total value of our shipping contracts for them was seventeen millions sterling. Northampton, Kettering, and Leicester had provided the footgear for the allies, and had turned out altogether sixty million boots. We had supplied 2,000,000 respirators to the Italian army to enable them to breathe the air of victory in the forthcoming twelve months. We had dislocated our trade, reduced our own consumption, rationed our coal, and sold or pledged our British securities and incurred losses in this respect in many parts of the world.

"We were sometimes reproached for the number of men kept in this country; but they were retained because they were carrying out invaluable and necessary service to the allies. At present there are 260,000 men in this country engaged exclusively in the industrial service of the allies and 375,000 digging coal. One million men were doing industrial work for the admiralty, and one and a half million men were engaged in munition work, a large proportion working not for us alone, but for the allies as well. When they contemplated these services it was remarkable that our armies were so large. Our effort was sufficiently great to justify us in asking that it should be made known both to our own people and to our allies."

The last sentence of this passage should find an echo in every country. Great Britain's entrance into the war saved the world and civilization. But for British resistance the Hun would have had continental Europe under his heel, despite all the valor of France, and he would have proceeded to organize his power for universal domination. His design was broken by the British stubbornness, to which the kaiser paid angry tribute in his conversation with Ambassador Gerard. History will do justice to the part Britain has played, but her miraculous exertions, military, naval, industrial, are not yet fully appreciated except by serious students of the war, because the gaze of nations has been fixed on the drama and glamor of the battlefields, which have obscured other essential factors in the strength of the allied cause. The greatest of these has been the British mastery of the seas.—Toronto Globe.

Germany Was Deceived

German Has Made in a Public Address a Curiously Ingenious Confession

Captain von Mantey, a man hitherto concealed from long-distance observation and comment, though, since he is described as "of the German admiralty," he must be of some importance in his own country, has made in a public address a curiously ingenious confession. He told his hearers that the sinking of 600,000 tons of shipping monthly up to August, last year, was expected "to bring England to reason, but the determination of the English deceived us."

In other words, if the English had come up to the one true standard of reasonability, which, of course, is the German standard, the ravages of the U-boat would have shown them that further resistance was useless, and they would have given up the fight. In still other words, the captain in effect admitted that the Germans would have acknowledged defeat if they had suffered such a loss as England did.—New York Times.

Fish Consumption in Canada

All over Canada people are eating fish in greater quantities than ever known in this country before, the average increase being estimated at 100 per cent. National fish day, October 31, was well observed throughout Canada. The increased demand will increase the supply, for there are plenty of fish in Canadian waters, if people will only ask their dealers to order them.

Saskatchewan
Government Statement

All Farms Should Be Summer fallowed Early

In connection with the inauguration of the new seed grain loan system, the department of agriculture has issued a statement setting forth the considerations which have led to the new policy. The statement says in its closing paragraphs:

"Representatives of this department report that even in parts of southwest Saskatchewan ten or twelve years of age, there are many farms where the fallow is not plowed until on July 10 even August, that it frequently is never harrowed till even later, while others make not even this pretense at summer-fallowing, having none at all. One might almost as safely enter a western winter without fuel or shelter as a southwestern summer without summerfallow.

"Those who persist in taking such chances in the future must do it at their own risk and expense and not be encouraged to longer gamble with government seed in the hope of another 1915. West and southwest Saskatchewan should be, one year with another, if properly farmed, one of the finest and safest wheat growing areas of the west.

"To one, however, who refuses to adopt the proven field methods of our successful farmers in this area, the scrap heap is his inevitable fate. To those who have again suffered loss of crop from drought this year, the above frank presentation of the situation may seem harsh and cruel, but it is undoubtedly in the interests of all that it should be said, and the problem faced.

"In the case of many others who have also lost their crops this season from such largely non-preventable causes as frost and hail, it is gratifying to know that either a comfortable bank account or the diversified character of their farm operations have left them in such a position of independence as to be able to finance themselves at this time. The more we all aim and attain this enviable condition the sooner government seed grain on credit will become a thing of the past."

Why the Sea Is Salt

The sea is salt because the rivers carry salt there and leave it. You must remember that ever and ever so many big rivers empty themselves into the sea. And you must remember, also, that all through the ground there are what we call mineral salts. As the rivers flow along they pick up some of these salts and carry them down into the ocean. The salts are not all the kind that we mean when we say "salt," but there is more of that kind than any other, because that kind dissolves more easily than any other, and so becomes a part of the water. There is so little salt in each river that we hardly notice it, but then all the rivers reach the sea and dump their salt into it. Then there is a very great deal. Of course the sun takes up a good deal of water from the sea. That is Nature's way of keeping the sea from spilling over. But the sun takes only the water and not the salt; so the sea not only keeps the salt that it has, but it keeps on getting more from the rivers. And so the sea gets more and more salty all the time.

Germany Will Be Confronted With Huge Bill When This Savage Nation Is Made To Settle For All the Wrongs Committed and The Damage Done To the Invaded Territories

Silver Bullion Sent to India

Twenty-five Motor Trucks Took Metal to Ships

A shipment of $3,000,000 in silver bullion, the largest ever sent out from a New York assay office, has started on its way to the secretary of state in Calcutta, India, 25 motor trucks being required to carry the metal on the first stage of its long journey. The bullion was obtained by the melting down of the silver dollars held in reserve against the one-dollar silver certificates, which are being retired by the issuing of federal reserve notes. The silver thus set free is being shipped to India, under an agreement with the British government, which is obliged to pay the natives in India, in whatever capacity they are employed, in bullion.

It was learned that about $17,000,000 in bullion had been shipped to the Far East from New York assay offices since the right to melt down the silver dollars was conferred by the act of congress of April 23. Shipments are also being made from San Francisco and Philadelphia, and it is estimated that the total amount thus far sent to India is between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000.

Unchecked

"How did Teller get his cold?"
"All the drafts in the bank go through his cage."

Tremendous indemnities for her barbarism confront Germany. One of the terms of the armistice is that she make reparation for all the damage she has wrought in invaded territory. Her bills look something like this:

For restoring Belgium, $5,000,000,000.

For restoring Northern France $1,000,000,000.

For restoring Serbia $500,000,000. For damage to property and compensation for those killed and injured in air raids over Great Britain, $250,000,000.

For sinking merchantmen without warning at sea and murdering passengers and crews, $1,000,000,000.

Total: $7,750,000,000.

Some of the details are:

Destruction of the Reims cathedral.

Destruction of France's vast orchards.

Partial destruction of more than 500 towns and villages in Belgium and France.

Demolition of public structures and private dwellings in London and a score of other English cities.

Sinking of the Lusitania and 20,000 more tons of shipping.

Explorer Collected Good Information

Has Spent Five Years in Unknown
Northlands

Frequently has it been stated in recent years that the political geography of Europe to be studied by the coming generation will be vastly different from that imbibed by the youngsters of today, because the face of Europe on the map will be so much altered as to be almost unrecognizable.

The cost of this change has to be reckoned in lives of men as well as untold treasure.

Canada, also, will have to change her atlas, not by a shuffling of frontiers and borderlines, but by the filling in of a large vacant space hitherto represented on maps somewhat vaguely as Arctic regions, yet within the boundaries of the Dominion.

This change too, has been brought about at the cost of the lives of dauntless men, apart from a long bill in coin of the realm, but Canada, as a result, will know more of herself, and the work accomplished by these sturdy explorers will stand for ever as a monument to their courage, daring and skill.

After five years, spent in exploring the vast, previously unknown territory of the Arctic regions, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, commander-in-chief of the Polar expedition which left Canada in June, 1913, has arrived in Ottawa and reported officially to Deputy Minister Desbarats, of the department of naval service. Stefansson's work has resulted in the collection of valuable scientific information and data.

Stefansson left Ottawa in the month of May, 1913, and proceeded to the coast, leaving Victoria in June. He was commissioned by the department of naval service to explore the then unexplored regions north of Alaska and west of the known Canadian islands.

The main vessel of the expedition was the ill-fated Karluk, and, in addition, smaller gasoline vessels were added to the expedition at Nome, consisting of the Alaska, Polar Bear and Challenge.

The expedition was financed entirely by the Canadian government and during the period of exploration there were approximately one hundred men in the service. The average number of men with the expedition at any one time was between sixty and seventy.

"On board the Karluk was what was probably the finest scientific apparatus and equipment of any Polar expedition. The government spared no expense in fitting us out with the most modern equipment, and all this was lost. Thus our expedition was badly crippled. Our source of supplies was cut off by this disaster and we lived on the country, traveling by sled."

Asked of the approximate area of the region visited, Stefansson said it was about 1,000,000 square miles, of which perhaps 400,000 square miles had been explored.

There were thirteen scientific specialists attached to the party, and it was necessary, the explorer explained, to go all over the world to secure these technical experts.

Six of them hailed from Canada, viz.: Dr. R. M. Anderson, Ottawa; Kenneth Gordon Chipman, John J. O'Neill, Mr. Malloch of Hamilton, and J. R. Cox, geographical survey.

"The biological matter alone," stated Mr. Stefansson, "will comprise ten volumes of from 400 to 500 pages each, with many elaborate plates."

Asked when he had received news of the great war, the famous explorer stated that he first knew that there was a war twelve and a half months after it had started. This information was only received by luck. A whaler, which had gone a long way out of its ordinary course, brought the news to Stefansson, otherwise he would not have heard for two or three years, as he received no official mail for three years.

Regarding living conditions in general, Stefansson stated that he could be quite as comfortable in the northern regions as elsewhere. "I merely adjust my living to the conditions," he said, with a smile. "Hardships and sickness are largely a matter of the mind. If one thinks or imagines that he is suffering terrible privation and worries about imaginary illness, then he will worry himself into the real thing."

Mr. Desbarats, deputy minister of the department of naval service, paid tribute to the explorer, and the manner in which he had accomplished his object.

"The publication of the scientific matter is under way," said Mr. Desbarats, "and the amount of matter is enormous."

"Stefansson has added to Canada several unknown lands in the Arctic regions; he has done exceptionally valuable work by exploring oceans."

Of the commercial possibilities, Mr. Desbarats stated that the explorer found that musk ox existed in certain regions, and had a theory that there might be some industrial possibilities there. Stefansson had discovered coal. Also there was copper in great quantities, and the members of the southern expedition had reported favorably to their leader of this valuable mineral. The geological survey of Canada had co-operated with the department of naval service in the expedition, and had a careful study of the minerals in that section of the north.

Asked if many men had been lost on the expedition, Mr. Desbarats stated that, with the loss of the Karluk, there had been a serious loss of life.

Three prominent scientists and two other scientific experts died on Wrangle Angle from exposure. Malloch, of Hamilton, died there. Then Dr. Mackay, Murray, and Beuchat, all noted scientists, left the party after the wreck, and in their attempt to gain land they were lost in the Arctic night, and have never been heard of since.

"The expedition was a complete success," said the deputy minister, "and even more than we hoped for has been accomplished."

Foot Shows Finer Development Than Hand

Shows the Difference Between Man and Monkey

A defender of the lowly foot has come in the person of the Journal of Heredity. Says the Journal:

"The human hand, a strangely, almost shockingly, primitive survival, has received enormous praise mistakenly lavished by the philosopher and the anatomist; but the human foot, a wonderfully modified and distinctly human member, has had but scant appreciation. . . . The foot is apt to be regarded as a poor relation of the hand, as a thing which, once being far more useful, has degenerated, within the narrow confines of a boot, into a rather distorted and somewhat useless member. Although in modern man the boot has had its definite influence (as in limiting the possibilities of the power of grasp) such generalisations concerning the human foot are very far from true. It man should wish to point with pride to any organ, the structure of which definitely severs him from all other existing primates, it is to the foot he should point. If 'missing links' are to be traced with complete success, the foot, far more than the skull or the teeth, or the shins, will mark them as monkey or man. The weakness of Achilles lay in his heel; the weakness of the arboreal primate masquerading as man lies in the structure of the foot. It is the foot which differentiates between man and monkey."

Cattle Bill Results

Inspectors for the department of Agriculture were busy branding cattle at the Edmonton stockyards that have been bought under the provisions of the Alberta cow bill. During the month of September a total of $29,739 was loaned under the provisions of this bill. Five hundred and thirteen cattle were bought with this amount, of which 329 were secured at the Edmonton stockyards and the remaining 184 were bought at country points. The districts represented in these purchases were Westlock, Halkirk, St. Paul, Peace River, Mannville, Sangudo and Medicine Hat. These farmers took out loans varying from $200 to $500 each. Most all of this stock was heifers and young cows.

Hay in Northern Alberta

A considerable quantity of hay was put up in Northern Alberta this year, and will help somewhat to relieve the feed situation which is causing anxiety among cattle men all over the continent. At one point north of Edmonton between fifteen and twenty thousand tons of hay were cut and is now ready for transportation south. Arrangements are being made to facilitate the movement of it as fast as possible.

"Mr. and Mrs. Acres Desire the Pleasure of Your Company—"

A Gillette enthusiast has boldly stated his belief that the famous razor has caused a complete revolution in social life in the rural districts today!

It is true, as he says, that one cannot now distinguish between the city man and his brother in the country.

But do not give all the credit to the Gillette Safety Razor.

Smooth chins assuredly do prompt correctness in other things, but it hardly seems possible that the smartness of the social gathering in present-day farm homes is due to a razor—even the best razor in the world.

You answer an invitation to call at a friend's house, and enter a softly-lighted room to find well dressed women and keen looking, clean shaven men.

How glad you are that you came prepared to hold your own in any company.

And how satisfying it is to know that if guests drop in on you unexpectedly, the daily few minutes with your Gillette finds you READY to receive them.

One thing is certain—a Gillette Safety Razor should be part of the equipment of every man of today.

Germans Failed to Get Oil

Germany expected to get great quantities of oil from the Baku district, through her "treaty" with Russia, but she has been disappointed. In the last six months the oil output dropped to a third what it was last year. Food difficulties caused 5,000 drillers to quit work and boring was decreased 60 per cent, as compared with last year. Despite this great quantities of oil are stored at Baku—probably more than 1,600,000 tons—but the transport conditions are so demoralized that it cannot be moved. And now Germany will never get it.

Jerusalem Fell to Two Tommies

Major Allen Burgoyne, lecturing before the Royal Photographic Society, told a story of the surrender of Jerusalem. He said that the city was actually surrendered to a couple of British regimental cooks, who were out trying to get some salad, when the Arabs came out with the keys of the city. One Tommy asked what they were expected to do with the keys of the "blinking" city.

Major Burgoyne said that the scene was accounted so historic that it was reconstructed and photographed.

Good Yields on College Farm

Among the reports of threshing outputs received by the Manitoba department of agriculture, probably the premier place so far has been taken by the agricultural college farm. Specially is this true in the case of the oat crop.

The college farm is used largely to produce pasture and winter feeds for the large college herd, but in addition to forage crops the following have been threshed:

Wheat yielded 40 bushels per acre, Oats yielded 103 bushels per acre, Barley yielded 80 bushels per acre.

Milk and Cream Men Propose to Organize

Creation of an association of milk and cream shippers to prevent the dictation of prices by the distributors and manufacturers of these products, may be the outcome of the meeting in Calgary last week of producers for the Calgary market, and for Medicine Hat, Didsbury and other points. The milk and cream committees of the U.F.A., after a lengthy meeting, decided to ask all shippers to make a contribution of $1 per can, for the purpose of conducting an investigation into the feasibility of some such organization. This decision was due in large measure to the information the committee has obtained from H. W. Vanderhoof of the executive of the Fraser Valley Producers' Association, who cited the results achieved by this association of British Columbia producers in securing adequate terms from the distributors. Mr. Vanderhoof chanced to be in Calgary on the occasion of the meeting of milk shippers and he was called in to give his advice. He stated that the Fraser Valley association, after two years' existence, now numbers in its membership 95 per cent. of the milk producers of the Fraser Valley and controls the Fraser Valley and Vancouver markets for milk and cream. It has a capital of $350,000 and handles milk products annually worth over $2,000,000, and has a membership of 1,200 producers.

A member of the milk and cream committee of the U.F.A. stated that there had been considerable dissatisfaction among the producers of milk and cream during the past two years. "This, insofar as Calgary market is concerned," he said, "was due to the amalgamation on March 1, 1918, of the various creamery companies by which control of practically the whole of the market for dairy products in the territory south of Red Deer was maintained in the hands of one company. In consequence the producer feared that amalgamation might be used unfairly to depress the price to the producer, organized under the auspices of the U.F.A., a special milk and cream section. This committee, elected by the shippers at large, has been working for more than a year and since its appointment all questions relative to milk and cream prices have been discussed with the committee.

"Formerly the producer had no say as to prices. He had no special right to complain. He was a victim of conditions. Our relations with the shippers have been agreeable. At the meeting held last week in some matters the producer was not satisfied. The committee had not been able to make all the headway that it would like to have done, and was not quite able to satisfy the shipper on these points." The address given by Mr. Vanderhoof created a great impression, and it was as the result of a meeting with him that the milk and cream committee decided to ask the shippers to sanction an investigation into the possibilities of improving the situation here.

Mr. Vanderhoof stated that when the Fraser Valley shippers decided to take the situation in hand two years ago, prices were dictated by the distributors and manufacturers of milk products. As milk is a perishable product the shippers realized, he said, that before any steps to better conditions for the producer could be taken, the producers must be in a position to handle their own products if the distributors declined to take them.

The producers were therefore organized, and the farmers who were producers of milk were asked to put up $50 a can as a share of the capital stock of the association, for the handling of milk. One hundred thousand was wanted; the association asked 20 per cent down, and each producer was asked to sign a contract not to ship milk except to his own association. No farmer who signed the agreement was bound until 80 per cent of all the producers of Fraser Valley had signed.

One of the first acts of the association was the purchase of a creamery plant in Vancouver for $36,000. Two years' business paid for the plant and gave a surplus of $6,000 on it.

Mr. Vanderhoof said that the price to the consumer in Vancouver last winter was never more than 15¢ an imperial quart. In Seattle the price was 15¢ an American standard quart, which is 20 per cent less than an imperial quart. The producers, however, felt that for some time past there has been too big a spread between the price received by the producer and that paid by the consumer. When any increase to the producer took place, the distributor increased his price proportionately much higher. When he found he could not beat down the producer, he tried unduly to inflate prices to the consumer. The Vancouver council held an investigation which reported that the producer was not only not charging too much, but that he would be justified in charging more.

Public Warning as to the Income Tax

A large number of returns for the year 1918 have been filed with the Inspector of Taxation for the Province, but it is felt that there are a number of persons whose incomes are sufficient to render them liable to taxation who have not yet filed returns. These must be filed WITHOUT ANY NOTICE OR DEMAND, according to the provisions of the Income War Tax Act. This does not appear to be generally known, and it appears that some persons are of the opinion that they are only required to file returns when forms are sent to them to do so. This is entirely wrong. All persons liable to taxation must get forms for themselves, either by applying for these at nearest Post Office, or at the office of the Inspector of Taxation, Customs building, Calgary.

For 1917, incomes liable to taxation were those of single persons, widows or widowers without dependent children where the amount exceeded $1,500, and those of married persons, widows or widowers with dependent children where the amount exceeded $3,000. The Act has been amended, however, and for 1918 taxable incomes are those in excess of $1,000 in the case of single persons, and $2,000 in the case of married persons.

The amendment to the Act will bring within its scope thousands of persons who were not taxable for 1917.

Steps are being taken to trace any defaulter. The penalties provided for in the Act are not yet being imposed and an opportunity is still being given to those who are liable under the Act, and who have failed to comply with it to file returns. There is no doubt, however, that before long some prosecutions will be made, and it is, therefore, important that no risks be taken, and that all whom the Act may affect should see that they are not incurring any of the penalties.

There are many misunderstandings as to what income consists of. Among some of the smaller merchants and others there is an impression that the profit earned and left in the business is not income. This is wrong. Whether such profit is withdrawn or left in the business it is income and should, therefore, be taken into account as such. It is also found that some people engaged in farming or business, regard capital expenditures and operating expenses alike, as deductions from gross income. Care should be taken to see that this is not done, and that all expenditures of a capital nature are left out of account when arriving at income.

Mr. Vanderhoof stated that when the Fraser Valley shippers decided to take the situation in hand two years ago, prices were dictated by the distributors and manufacturers of milk products. As milk is a perishable product the shippers realized, he said, that before any steps to better conditions for the producer could be taken, the producers must be in a position to handle their own products if the distributors declined to take them.

The producers were therefore organized, and the farmers who were producers of milk were asked to put up $50 a can as a share of the capital stock of the association, for the handling of milk. One hundred thousand was wanted; the association asked 20 per cent down, and each producer was asked to sign a contract not to ship milk except to his own association. No farmer who signed the agreement was bound until 80 per cent of all the producers of Fraser Valley had signed.

One of the first acts of the association was the purchase of a creamery plant in Vancouver for $36,000. Two years' business paid for the plant and gave a surplus of $6,000 on it.

Mr. Vanderhoof said that the price to the consumer in Vancouver last winter was never more than 15¢ an imperial quart. In Seattle the price was 15¢ an American standard quart, which is 20 per cent less than an imperial quart. The producers, however, felt that for some time past there has been too big a spread between the price received by the producer and that paid by the consumer. When any increase to the producer took place, the distributor increased his price proportionately much higher. When he found he could not beat down the producer, he tried unduly to inflate prices to the consumer. The Vancouver council held an investigation which reported that the producer was not only not charging too much, but that he would be justified in charging more.

A large number of returns for the year 1918 have been filed with the Inspector of Taxation for the Province, but it is felt that there are a number of persons whose incomes are sufficient to render them liable to taxation who have not yet filed returns. These must be filed WITHOUT ANY NOTICE OR DEMAND, according to the provisions of the Income War Tax Act. This does not appear to be generally known, and it appears that some persons are of the opinion that they are only required to file returns when forms are sent to them to do so. This is entirely wrong. All persons liable to taxation must get forms for themselves, either by applying for these at nearest Post Office, or at the office of the Inspector of Taxation, Customs building, Calgary.

For 1917, incomes liable to taxation were those of single persons, widows or widowers without dependent children where the amount exceeded $1,500, and those of married persons, widows or widowers with dependent children where the amount exceeded $3,000. The Act has been amended, however, and for 1918 taxable incomes are those in excess of $1,000 in the case of single persons, and $2,000 in the case of married persons.

The amendment to the Act will bring within its scope thousands of persons who were not taxable for 1917.

Steps are being taken to trace any defaulter. The penalties provided for in the Act are not yet being imposed and an opportunity is still being given to those who are liable under the Act, and who have failed to comply with it to file returns. There is no doubt, however, that before long some prosecutions will be made, and it is, therefore, important that no risks be taken, and that all whom the Act may affect should see that they are not incurring any of the penalties.

Canadian Aeroplanes

Output in 18 Months Valued at Over $30,000,000

The Canadian Aeroplanes, Limited, Toronto, a local industry created by the war, has turned out 3,000 airplanes since its inception 18 months ago, the output being valued at over $30,000,000. The plant covers nearly 10 acres and employs about 2,500 persons, 75 per cent. of whom are skilled workmen, and has a capacity of 350 planes per month. There are three types produced; the Canadian Curtiss, which constitutes over half the output; the Avro, and the F-5 Flying Boat, the latter a huge submarine chaser intended for work on the Atlantic coast and the coast of France.

Longfellow Knew the Arabs

Story of Conversation Overheard in Palestine

Lieut.-Col. H. A. Gray Cheape, the leader of the brilliant "Balaclava" charge of the Worcestershire and Warwickshire Yeomanry in Palestine, tells an amusing story of a conversation he overheard between two troopers some way behind the firing line. One of them was reading a book, and the other man inquired the name of the author.

"Longfellow," was the reply.

"Never heard of him! What does he write? Stories?"

"Oh!" Then after a pause, "Well, I was going to ask you for the loan of the book, but as it is you can keep it, I never could stand poetry."

"But this is real good stuff," replied the other, enthusiastically.

"Listen to this:

"And the night shall be filled with music,

And the cares that infest the day Shall fold their tents like the Arabs

And silently steal away."

"By jove!" exclaimed his comrade, "there is something in that! I know those Arab beggars—they would simply steal anything!"

Whale on Toast

New Brand of Oleo Contains Whale Oil

You may have heard of whale oil on toast, as a vaudeville joke, but according to advices received by Saskatoon wholesale grocers, the real thing is likely soon to arrive in the form of a "whale oleomargarine" invented by the famous Danish chemist, Dr. Søpp. The Saskatchewan dairy-men's association at their convention in Saskatoon last winter, made strong protests to the Ottawa government against the fictitious sale of oleomargarine in the place of real butter. The feeling is now being expressed if the recent commandeering butter order was for the purpose of making room for whale oleomargarine. The new product is said to contain ten per cent. fat from whale oil compared with 85 per cent. cream fat in ordinary butter.

Nothing is more disgraceful than insincerity.—Cicero.

Generals in Politics

Kaiser Confered With Generals Rather Than Ministers

The Vancouver Province directs attention to the reported statement of one of the German generals to the effect that military commanders in Germany differed from those of the other nations inasmuch as they stuck to their task and did not interfere with politics and statesmanship. Our western contemporary points out that the facts are against this claim.

So they are. The war was made by Germany's military war lords. German diplomacy, before the outbreak of hostilities and after, was military diplomacy. The voice of Berlin was the voice of the commandants. The kaiser conferred with his generals rather than his ministers. Hindenburg, Tirpitz, and the Crown Prince were the kind of men with whom he took counsel.

It is not so with the allied military commanders. Foch does not participate in the politics of France. Haig does not influence the policy of Britain. Pershing never had anything to do with the administration in the United States. The Canadian commander-in-chief, General Currie, has worked his way up from a regimental command by paying exclusive attention to his work in the field.

And this condition is to be expected, for these generals represent democracy.—Toronto Globe.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall weather is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next is wet and cold and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent cold or if it does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly cure it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Unnecessary Precaution

The town council of a small Scotch community met to inspect a site for a new hall. They assembled at a chapel, and as it was a warm day a member suggested that they should leave their coats there.

"Someone can stay behind and wash them," suggested another.

"What for?" demanded third. "If we are all going out together, what need is there for anyone to wash the clothes?"—London Tit-Bits.

Miller's Worm Powders not only exterminate intestinal and other worms, but they are a remedy for many other ailments of children. They strengthen the young stomach against biliousness and are tonical in their effects where the child suffers from loss of appetite. In feverish conditions they will be found useful and they will serve to allay pain and griping in the stomach, from which children so often suffer.

Freedom of the Seas

Allies Obliged to Exercise Utmost Stringency

In a recent issue of the Journal of the Royal Navy League of Siam, the king of Siam writes that many people are too enamored with the expression, "freedom of the seas," even to think of explaining it. One party in favor of the policy, he observed, wanted neutral ships to be free from the right of search. If, he pointed out, the right of search was abandoned, it would be practically impossible to detect the passage of contraband goods. Suspicion had been aroused by the fact that during the war some neutral countries had bought larger quantities of certain goods than they had been in the habit of doing, and the inference was that they were acting as agents for the central powers, who were unable to buy direct for themselves. Therefore, because Germany respected no rights of nations, unless they happened to be to her advantage, the allies were obliged to exercise the utmost stringency in carrying out their anti-contraband work.

Name Given Rich District Means Border Land

The name Ukraine given to the rich black soil district of Russia bordering on Austria and South Germany, means border land. The Ukrainians are known as Little Russians in Russia, and as Ruthenians in Austria and Hungary. There are about 34,500,000 of them. They have asserted their right to independent existence for centuries. They claim that they own the land from the Carpathians to the Caucasus, extending well north into Russia, including part of Russian and Austrian Galicia and part of what is known as Russian Poland. When the Poles were conquered by the Russians, the Ukrainians became subject to Russia, but they have never lost their racial sense.

The King Conserves His Coal

The King has given strict orders that there is to be no central heating this winter in any of the royal palaces until November is here. Everyone who has visited Windsor knows the enormous sizes of the kitchens and their semi-furnace grates. These kitchens are no longer in use, the household cooking being done in a much smaller kitchen to save fuel. Coke is largely used these times both at Buckingham Palace and Windsor. The heating of the conservatories is also to be stopped, and the beautiful flowers and plants will be sent to the hospitals and churches.

A Stitch in Time

THERE is a homely old proverb which tells us that "a stitch in time saves nine."

If the man who said it first had been thinking of health, he would probably have said that a stitch in time saves nine hundred and ninety-nine, so important is it to repair those first tissues that become impaired by ill-health.

This is no new doctrine. It is as old as man. Unfortunately (to paraphrase another proverb), we too frequently put off until to-morrow what we ought to do to-day.

Failing to repair the first tissues that need repair, allowing the malady to continue unchecked, other tissues become impaired, for all parts of the body are sympathetic.

The trouble spreads. And—then comes the rent. Nervous disorders may show themselves in various ways, such as sleeplessness, headaches, neuralgic pains, nervous prostration and exhaustion, while later developments take the form of paralysis, locomotor ataxia, or some form of helplessness.

Strangely enough—all these symptoms are preventable, if that stitch had been taken in time. It is here that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food becomes important. We do not say that it is the only means of preventing the rent, but we do say that many years of experience have proved its value as a repairer of wasted nerve tissues that have become weakened by overwork, anxiety, or other causes.

When we say that the value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been proved we are speaking by the book. We might, at considerable length, tell you why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will make that stitch if taken in time and prevent the rent, but we have always proceeded upon the idea that people are more interested in knowing what has been done in cases similar to their own.

Mrs. W. T. Abbott, 338 Paterson street, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "My system was in a rundown condition, and I was troubled with nervousness and sleeplessness. For some time also I had been bothered with neuralgia, and although I tried many remedies, it was without success. Upon the advice of a friend I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and soon found that my neuralgia was cured, and I have not been troubled in this way since. I also find that now I eat and sleep well, and I give full credit for this great benefit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I might also mention that I had lost considerable in weight, but after using the Nerve Food I gained back the flesh I had lost."

You can obtain Dr. Chase's Nerve Food from any dealer at 50 cents a box, six for $2.75, or from Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Many Farms Need New Barns This Year

Is yours one of them?

Havn't you felt the need for more room, better arrangement, more winter comfort for your stock, less hard work for yourself?

Havn't you often figured you were not making as much money as your hard work entitled you to?

Very often the old barn is at the bottom of all such trouble and a new one would not only pay for itself quickly but put the farm on a money making basis at once.

500 acres of land and states that everything looks in splendid condition in the south country. The cut worms have not made their appearance as far south as Carmangay as yet, but they are getting very bad farther north.

The Red Cross rooms will be open this (Thursday) afternoon so that all who have so kindly donated furniture or dishes to the Society may come and claim them, as all unclaimed articles of that kind will be sold and the money turned in to the Red Cross funds. Will those having Red Cross work out kindly return it finished or unfinished.

There was a general exodus on Friday night and Saturday morning to Calgary and other points on the 24th. The day had more the appearance of Sunday, except that a small flag fluttered over the bandstand and the small boy let off a few fire-crackers. It is to be hoped Dominion Day will receive better recognition.

W. A. Swingle purchased the Hugh Gilmore farm at the Dog Pound last week. This gives Mr. Swingle the complete section for farming purposes. Mr. Gilmore is one of the old time ranchers of this district, coming here twenty years ago, when his supplies had to be brought by team from Calgary. He is uncertain as to his next move, but thinks he will have to go where there is more range for cattle.

While no hard and fast automobile rules are enforced in town, that does not give some drivers a license to speed up their cars to 30 miles an hour, besides violating other rules of the road. Constable Sick wishes it to be understood that he is not sleeping while on duty, and unless the guilty ones take the hint a piece of blue paper may follow. The rate of speed inside the town limits has become dangerous, especially for children.

Doctor and Mrs. G. M. Read returned to Didsbury on Friday last and will again make their home with us in their former residence in Hespeler street. The Doctor looks fine after his long experience in many lands on military duty, and he says that he had a good time. But then those who know the Doctor also know that he is not the one who would tell the dark side of his experience; his genial nature would not let him.

During those strenuous days of the war, the energies of everyone were directed to the necessities of the men in the army, so that every form of amusement and outdoor recreation had to be suspended. Now that we are getting back to normal conditions and the long pleasant evenings are here and all nature looking its best, the time is ripe to get outside and revive some of the outdoor games. One that is ever popular with both sexes is tennis, of which many in town are experts. There is also enough good timber to form a good baseball or football club—perhaps both. Let's have some sports for Dominion Day.

The local post office is still accepting mail for Calgary and Edmonton, and some is coming through from those cities, but mail for Winnipeg and the East is being held up at the local office because of the strike.

The marriage of Miss J. Putwain to Mr. J. A. Sergeant took place in Calgary on Wednesday last, Rev. Mr. Whiteman, B.D., of Knox church, officiating. They will reside in Calgary for the future. It will be remembered that Miss Putwain was employed in Williams & Little's dry goods store.
